

Electronic Discovery industry veteran Terra Buckley joins TERIS as Partner, National Accounts

Skilled communicator brings more than a decade of high-level Fortune 100 corporate legal department and AMLAW 200 law firm sales and account-management experience

Seattle, WA – November 4, 2009 – TERIS, a leading provider of legal support services and sophisticated Electronic Discovery (eDiscovery) solutions, announced today that leading eDiscovery sales industry veteran Terra Buckley has joined the firm as its new Partner for National Accounts. Buckley has worked in the eDiscovery industry for more than 10 years, during which time she has gained a strong reputation for her development and implementation of cost and time-saving litigation technology initiatives for Fortune 100 corporate legal departments and AMLAW 200 law firms.

Buckley has held Sales Director and leadership roles with some of the nation's leading litigation support service providers and has developed and expanded digital litigation support services to existing and potential national accounts. She joins TERIS in its Seattle corporate office.

"This is another step for us to build upon our recent success working with corporations," said Kip Hauser, TERIS COO. "TERIS is rapidly gaining a reputation as a resource for in-house legal counsel for a variety of eDiscovery and related litigation support needs. Terra's experience working directly with general counsel for large corporations in multiple industries will be a tremendous asset for us and our clients."

Buckley is Certified with several industry-leading hosted and ESI solutions and has also completed numerous top-level core management business courses. She is a member of ARMA, HALSM, Women in eDiscovery, HMPA, and ALSP litigation support organizations. She received her BA from the University of Washington.
